tequila

Tequila Blanco Shot

These tequilas are usually bottled directly after distillation, or in some cases aged up to 60 days in stainless steel tanks prior to bottling.

Tequila Reposado Shot

These tequilas are aged in oak barrels for three months to one year, an aging process which gives this tequila its mellow flavor.

Tequila Añejo Shot

Like fine wine these tequilas are aged in oak barrels like fine wines for a minimum of one year. The oak barrels give these tequilas their distinct flavor and color which makes them the most complex of all tequilas.
